About This Content

"The legend of the Once and Future King is as ancient as the realm of Britannia itself. It tells about the arrival of a great king who will unite the warring kingdoms of the land and bring peace and prosperity to all."

New units become available after the completion of the "Lady of the Lake" objective:

Briton Archers ⓘ Facing constant warfare, the Britons realized that they need some archers who are trained in the art of melee.

Briton Cavalry ⓘ These devoted horsemen ride out into the hidden corners of Britannia to bring back rumors. In battles their heavy armor gives them excellent protection, but also slows them down a bit.

New units become available are available after the conquest of either Norfolk or Norgales:

Saxon Knight: unlocked after conquering Norfolk

When the Saxons decided to follow the other courts of Britannia and established the knighthood in Norfolk, they only allowed the best warriors to join these ranks.

Welsh Pikemen: unlocked after conquering Norgales

Equipped with a shield and a pike, these tribal warriors from the kingdom of druids are not only good fighters but they are quite resistant to the power of magic.

Two powerful Knights join the Round Table when the first Stronghold is built:

Sir Alymere This knight was destined to be a great champion and indeed, he became one of the most respected wandering knights.

Sir Lucan Lucan was a regular participant of the royal tournaments and bravely defended the lands of his family during the chaotic times after the Miracle.

Standing Stones

The history of the stone circles faded away long ago but some of the loathsome mortals made strange rituals here time-to-time. Sometimes they got answers, sometimes failed away to the power of the mist but mostly the Stones remained silent.

Defeat King Mark

On the southern coast of Britannia, King Idres of Dorset just raided his western neighbor, Dumnonia, to weaken his ancient enemy, King Mark, ruler of the land.

King Idres the tyrant of Dorset is a fearsome adversary. He is also a remarkable warrior known as the Giant, as he is said to be so large that he could sit upon this mountain and survey his kingdom. His gratitude will be just as great if you decide to join his raid against King Mark: he will surely let you have your share of the bounty. This is the first challenge to your Virtue.

King Mark is defeated. Seeing your power King Idres kept his word and shared the bounty.
